LAWN DECORATED FOR EASTER — Mrs. John Harbin of the Middletown Rd. has decorated her lawn with typical Easter time figures, rabbits, eggs, and baskets. She says she started the decorating this year because she felt Easter is as important an event as Christmas. With her is her 16-month-old son, Danny. There are more than 1,300 eggs on the lawn in addition to the larger figures. She says she was helped in the accumulation and coloring of the eggs by relatives and neighbors. The Harbin home is located northwest of Salem about one mile west of Rt. 45.

Egg Hunt At Park Set For Saturday

The Easter season is of particular religious significance and it also is a festive occasion for children, what with colored eggs, bunnies and especially Easter egg hunts.

The city's annual Easter egg hunt, sponsored by the United Commercial Travelers Council, will be held Saturday at 11 a. m. at Centennial Park. Chairman Aubrey Cain says the UCT will hide 5,000 foil-wrapped candy eggs in the ball park area at the park for the boys and girls to find.

The finders of 12 special eggs will win live rabbits.

The Easter egg hunts were started in Salem a number of years ago by the late Joe Kelly, who was manager of the Memorial Building and recreational director in the community. After Mr. Kelly's death, the event was dropped until 1955 when revived by the late Stanley Kamasky, UCT Youth chairman.

EASTER EGG HUNT PRIZE — Scott and Patty Brooks, children of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Brooks of 762 W. Pershing St., fondly admire one of the white rabbits to be given away to the finders of lucky eggs in the Easter Egg Hunt at Centennial Park Saturday at 11 a. m.

Miss Aadland's Mother Taken Into Custody

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I haven't done nothing—I'll sue for false arrest," declared the angry mother of 17-year-old Beverly Aadland as she was led off to jail on charges of contributing to her daughter's delinquency.

Police found Florence Aadland expecting them when they arrived Thursday at the apartment she shared with Beverly, last mistress of the late Errol Flynn.

It was the apartment in which William Stanciu, handsome aspiring actor, was fatally shot last Saturday. Beverly told detectives that Stanciu was accidentally hit while they struggled nude on a bed for his revolver.

Beverly has been in juvenile custody since the shooting. The district attorney issued a complaint against her ex-showgirl mother after viewing pictures of a wild party at the Aadland apartment.

Before going to jail Mrs. Aadland leveled this parting shot at reporters who had waited at the apartment:

"And quit saying I'm 53, because I'm not. I'm only 46."

Mrs. Aadland is charged with permitting Beverly to drink; appearing intoxicated in Beverly's presence; with occupying a bed with a man in her daughter's presence; of permitting Beverly to occupy a bed with a man; and exercising so little supervision that Beverly was left alone when the mother went to a hospital for six days, during which the shooting took place.

guages represents a Christian community with jealously guarded traditional rights in the Church of the Holy Sepulchre.

Normally, Oriental and Western churches have Easter at different times because of calendar differences but this year they celebrate Easter together.

This means there must be careful planning and split-second timing of services in the church to avoid friction.

If an Orthodox priest lights a lamp belonging to Armenians a near riot will follow.

The feeling is so strong on these points that the various rights have been written into international treaties. One such dispute in Bethlehem was a contributing cause to the outbreak of the Crimean War.

The first language used in the Church of the Holy Sepulchre Good Friday morning was the Latin tongue spoken by a Roman Centurion who stood beside the cross and declared, "Surely this was the Son of God." Roman Catholics gathered in the church to hold an early service.

By 9:30 a. m. the Latins had to make way for the Greek Orthodox, whose liturgy embodies Greek spoken by the Apostle Paul and most educated persons in New Testament times.

In the afternoon the language of Pharaohs and the language spoken by Christ mingled when the Syrians and Egyptians both held a burial service at the Holy Sepulchre almost simultaneously. In their liturgy, the Syrian Orthodox Christians use the Ara-

Rocky Shows Signs of Edging Back Into Race

Schedules Series
Of Out-of-State
Tours Next Week

By The Associated Press
Nelson A. Rockefeller, who ruled himself out of the race for the Republican presidential nomination last December, is showing distinct signs of edging back in.

Item: Next week he'll start a series of out-of-state tours, speaking for Republican candidates and displaying his smiling personality again among Republican politicians in many parts of the country.

Item: He still refuses to endorse Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the GOP nomination. Asked Thursday if he had any doubt Nixon would be nominated, he replied "I don't want to discuss it."

Hasn't Ruled Out Draft

Item: He has not ruled out a convention draft. He says he doesn't expect one, but will "cross that bridge, if it comes." The kind of straw in the wind that cheers Rockefeller's ardent admirers came Thursday from Denver, Colo. when the Denver Post said editorially Rockefeller appears to be "the most attractive Republican candidate that could be offered. . . ."

Nixon's own preconvention policy, in the meantime, got a nod from Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois. Said Dirksen, "I think his present technique is pretty good."

West Virginia's Republican Gov. Cecil H. Underwood said in New York that while Rockefeller would make "a very strong candidate . . . right now Mr. Nixon is the strongest candidate we have." He added, "I do not foresee any change in the national picture."

Kennedy Leading Candidate

In the Democratic race Sen. F. Kennedy (D-Mass) was the leading candidate for the party's nomination in the opinion of a large majority of potential Pennsylvania convention delegates who answered an Associated Press questionnaire.

The AP asked the delegate candidates who they thought was the leading man, not necessarily their own first choice. Thirty-four of 41 who replied said Kennedy.

Ex-Soldier's Death Sentence Commuted

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has commuted the death sentence of former M. Sgt. Maurice Schick, convicted of strangling and drowning the daughter of an Army officer in Japan more than six years ago.

The White House acted March 25 to reduce the sentence of the Canonsburg, Pa., soldier to life imprisonment with no possibility of parole, the Army said today.

Schick was convicted of murdering the 8-year-old daughter of Col. and Mrs. Jacquard Rothschild Nov. 21, 1953. The case went through all stages of military review. The conviction and sentence were eventually upheld by the Court of Military Appeals which rejected a defense contention that Schick was mentally ill and unable to know the difference between right and wrong. Schick is now serving his sentence at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan.

Diplomats Plan Another Meeting Western Ministers Complete Strategy for Summit Confab

WASHINGTON (AP) — The stage was set today for Western unity on basic issues at the outset of next month's summit meeting with the Soviet Union.

But the Western camp lacked any spectacular new idea with which to seize the bargaining initiative from Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

The three days of foreign ministers talks which ended Thursday completed the major homework on strategy for the summit gathering starting in Paris May 16. That meeting will bring together President Eisenhower, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, French President Charles de Gaulle and Khrushchev.

The Western foreign affairs chiefs referred unfinished odds and ends to inter-allied specialist groups in Paris, London and Washington. The ministers themselves will have another pre-summit gathering in Istanbul May 1. The Western government chiefs will assemble in Paris May 15 for a final strategy session before the big conference opens the following day.

The Western foreign ministers made elaborate plans to keep small-power allies informed on their proceedings. They also arranged to contact the Soviet Union in advance on procedural matters, including a Western decision to take up disarmament as the No. 1 summit discussion topic.

The Ministers reached speedy accord on the two major cold war issues headed for summit discussion — Germany-Berlin and disarmament. Basically, they adopted their previous stand on these issues with few modifications, even though the Reds have

Suspect Held For Murder of Woman, Child

CHATTahoochee, Fla. (AP) — A one-legged Negro was held for investigation in an undisclosed jail today after a white woman and her 3-year-old son were found clubbed to death in a station wagon near his home.

Another child, beaten but still alive, identified the Negro, Sie Dawson, as the killer, Deputy Sheriff Robert Martin said. Dawson, about 50, denied it. Martin said tracks, apparently made by a man on crutches, led to Dawson's home from the station wagon where the bodies of Maggie Mae Clayton, 36, and Roger Clayton were found Thursday. Dawson uses crutches.

Martin said the surviving boy, 4-year-old Alva Clayton, said "Sie beat me and mama." A doctor said Alva was seriously hurt with a possible skull and neck fracture.

The dead woman's husband, Alvey Clayton, said his wife and children had gone to Dawson's home to get him to do some work for them. The two homes are about half a mile apart.

The murder weapon was not found.

'The Upper Room' Is Service Theme

The Rev. Harold Deitch, pastor of the First Christian Church spoke on "The Upper Room" at Holy Week services Thursday noon in the First Presbyterian Church.

One hundred persons were in attendance.

Rev. Deitch recalled that "Christ knew that we would be in constant danger of forgetting Him. We are to remember His death, but never did He ask that we should commemorate His birth."

"This is to be His memorial — a cross to remind us that God's love for us is a love that hate cannot nullify and death cannot destroy. It was only hours until Christ and His disciples would be separated, and He wished to fill those last hours of fellowship with the most tender and most significant of His teachings."

Mrs. Oliver Davis sang "Calvary."

Rebel Eludes Castro Troops

Intensive Manhunt
Enters Ninth Day

LAS MERCEDES, Cuba (AP) — An insurgent former officer of Fidel Castro's army today continued to elude crack government mountain troops in a chase over the soggy pinnacles of east Cuba's Sierra Maestra.

Castro is directing operations in the ninth day of an intensive manhunt for ex-Capt. Manuel Beaton and his band of armed guerrillas, believed to number about 50 men. Fidel's brother Raul, the armed forces chief, and other top commanders also are in the field.

A cloak of official silence hung over the military movements in the densely forested steep Sierra overlooking the Caribbean along Cuba's southeast coast.

The only official word late Thursday night was that Beaton had not been caught.

(There were unconfirmed reports in Havana that 1,000 regulars of Castro's army had ringed 6,560-foot Pico Turquino—Cuba's highest mountain—in the belief they had trapped the bulk of the rebels. Official sources refused to comment on this and another report of fighting in the area of Palma Soriano, along the eastern fringe of the Sierra Maestra, in which it was said 12 government soldiers were killed.)

Cuban newsmen reported they saw Castro in the hills but he ordered them to get out.

From other sources in the general area of this tiny village at the foothills of the Sierras this much was learned:

Castro has thrown thousands of men into the drive from three directions—east, north and west—on Beaton's suspected center of operations.

There is a possibility that one or two more rebel bands operating independently of each other are hiding out in the mountains. These bands are reportedly led by men identified only as "El Mexicano" and "Lagruya," both described as former Castro men.

French Police Deny Arrest Of Abductors

Crying Child Found
On Paris Sidewalk,
Half-Mile from Home

PARIS (AP)—Amid reports that his kidnapers were being run to earth, 4-year-old Eric Peugeot was home safe and sound today, although "still upset." His abductors freed him early this morning on a Paris sidewalk not far from home—supposedly after payment of ransom.

At one point the French News Agency reported two men and a woman had been arrested in Paris as the boy's kidnapers. But within minutes national police headquarters denied the story.

Boy Found Unharmed

The 4-year-old heir to a French automobile empire was found unharmed, crying on a sidewalk within half a mile of his home shortly before 1 a. m. today. He said he had been left there by two men, apparently the same pair who whisked him away from the playground at an exclusive St. Cloud Country Club Tuesday afternoon.

The newspaper France-Soir reported that Eric's father, Roland Peugeot, said he had paid a ransom to the kidnapers Thursday afternoon. The amount was not revealed, but the abductors had demanded $100,000.

Eric and his parents were in their sixth-floor apartment this morning, the drapes drawn and four police on guard outside.

"To get Eric released I scrupulously followed the conditions of the kidnapers," Peugeot was reported to have said. "I had to have confidence in them. They asked me to deliver the ransom to a specific place. I did it. Then there was nothing to do but wait. The last hours by the telephone were the most cruel."

Examined By Doctor
Eric was examined by a doctor and pronounced in good health. Questioned closely, he said: "I didn't know the two men who took me away in a car. They didn't take me far. It was in a ground floor apartment. They had a television set. . . . They didn't hurt me."

Then, snuggling up to his father, he added, "I am very happy now."

Blinking back tears his father appeared to speak briefly to hundreds of newsmen: "I am very happy. I hardly think there is anything more to say."

Then, he led his wife and two

$469,000 Bond Issue, Levy Needed

Columbiana School Building Proposed

COLUMBIANA — Construction of a new elementary school building on the southeast side of town has been proposed by the Columbiana Exempted Village Board of Education which made public its plans at a meeting of a new Citizens Committee formed to study the local school system as a part of the "Second State House Conference on Education."

The new building, required by expanding enrollment, would be located on a 10-acre site of the New

Waterford Road at the junction of Pittsburgh and Duquesne Sts. Tentative plans call for a 14-room building with 10 or more rooms to be added at a later date. The board is considering asking for a bond issue of approximately $469,000 at the November election to finance construction of the building, plus a two-mill operating levy to run the new school.

Mrs. Margaret Renfrew, chairman, and Elmer Detwiler Jr., Russell Lindsay, Mrs. Marge Barber, Robert Powers, James Siller, Mrs. Virginia Way, Wilbur Spanabel, Harold Husted, Oscar Ballantine, Mrs. Jennie Hunt, Wayne Paulson and Blaine Thompson are members of the committee.

S. Africa Braces Against New Strike

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — South Africa's government braced today to meet the threat of another crippling Negro work boycott protesting the white regime's stern racial policies.

Police kicked off a new series of raids against "inciters and agitators," rounding up 100 persons in the African settlement of Orlando, on the outskirts of Johannesburg.

The outlawed African National Congress' emergency committee circulated pamphlets through Orlando and other Johannesburg Negro settlements Thursday calling for a one-week work boycott beginning Monday.

Deputy Police Commissioner C. J. Lemmer warned that "the hundreds of thousands of law-abiding Africans must not stay away from work."

"They must ignore the pamphlets if they have received them. They must not allow themselves to be intimidated," Lemmer declared, adding that "police will be on duty in full force and will be able to provide all the protection needed."

The government of wounded Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd clearly planned to take all necessary measures to prevent a repetition of the no-work campaign—a potent economic weapon in this country where three million whites lean heavily on the labor of 10 million Negroes.

Youths Plead Guilty To Rt. 45 Burglary

Raymond Payton, 21, Donald Louis Bailey Jr., 19, and Daniel Germanovich, 18, of East Liverpool pleaded guilty of burglary Thursday before County Judge Luther Donbar and were bound over to grand jury under $250 bond each.

The three youths were stopped early Wednesday morning by Ravenna police who found $35 worth of merchandise in their car. After questioning the youths admitted breaking into the Rt. 45 store of Mr. and Mrs. William Stayton, three miles south of Salem. The men are confined to the county jail.

Commissioners Buy Wire for County Home

Columbiana County commissioners Thursday bought 25 rolls of wire for the county home farm from D. W. Dickey and Sons of Lisbon.

They submitted the low bid of $843.75. There were three other bidders, according to Frank Wilson, chairman of the board.

The commissioners also approved the expenditure of $60 to enable Dr. William A. Kolozsi, county coroner, to attend a state coroner's meeting April 28, 29 and 30 at Ironton.

County Judge Luther Donbar was granted $30 to attend an Ohio Judicial Council meeting in Cleveland May 5. The meeting was called by Supreme Court Judge Carl V. Weigandt.

The injunction against Ohio Bell was granted last month to Mike Malvasi of Niles, in whose name the phones were listed.

Ohio Court Rules Against Closing Two Amish Schools

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Hardin County officials aren't sure what course of action they'll take now that a court of appeals has ruled there is no state law that says Amish schools must close. Following Thursday's ruling by the Third District Court of Appeals, Carlos Faulkner, acting for the county's Board of Education, said:

"We can appeal (the case) or we can bring the parents into court for keeping their children truant from school. If it was handled this way it would entail a $20 fine a day for each child."

"But there are 50 children in those two schools and if we brought each one of them into court every day we would have to set up another court just to handle the truancy cases," he explained.

The two Amish schools in question have been in the spotlight for about a year. The court Thursday refused to issue a permanent injunction to close them sought on grounds they do not meet state requirements.

Joseph Dush, of Willard, attorney for the Amish, called the court's decision gratifying. The three-member court, composed of Judges George Middleton, J. Thomas Guernsey and Raymond A. Younger, said "it is difficult to see how a non-taxable school, which is self-supporting, can cause public harm."

The state contends Amish schools must maintain certain minimum standards or close. Amish schools do not teach U.S. or Ohio history, government, science, mathematics, or other related subject.

"They (Amish) say that reading, writing and simple arithmetic is enough. They will tell you they don't want their children to come in touch with the outside world. They admit that when they do the children leave the Amish community," Faulkner said.

The court decision gives Ohio's 30 Amish schools the right to operate until further action is taken. There are some 4,000 Amish in the state, about 100 in Hardin County.

The schools in question do not have electric lights or running water and are furnished only with chairs, desks and a pot-belly stove for heat.

Soviet Fishermen Have 'Floating City' In Bering Sea

Editors Note: A group of Alaskans visited a Soviet "floating city" of fishermen in the Bering Sea. Among the Americans was a newsman who here relates their findings.

By ROBERT E. ATWOOD
Editor, Anchorage Daily Times
ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Soviet Union fishermen have a "floating city" of 2,500 persons in the Bering Sea off Alaska, operating year-around despite the ice pack, but insisting they are taking only fish passed up by Americans.

"If fishery problems in the Bering Sea became a choice of friendship or fish," their commander told a visiting group of Alaskans, "we would withdraw in favor of friendship."

The Alaskans have just returned here after a week's trip into Bering pack ice led them to a fleet of 58 ships of the Soviet expedition.

It was believed the first time any foreigners had been allowed aboard the Soviet vessels operating off Alaska. The Alaskans were welcomed as friends and neighbors.

The trip was made aboard the 150-foot vessel "Deep Sea," owned by Howard Wakefield, vice president of Wakefield Fisheries, who organized the expedition.

The crew of the "Deep Sea" visited the crews, enjoyed Soviet and American motion pictures together. There were exchanges of gifts and other friendly gestures.

The visit revealed that the Soviet Union has established a floating city with a degree of permanence that is surprising. The

The Hallowed House

Widow's Home, His Place of Triumph

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

The wall is thick. It is brick, stone, mortar and plastered mud baked hard. It is massive, encompassing and high. Eyes cannot penetrate that wall. Intellect cannot pierce it. It is a human wall, tough, rigid, confining.

Rarely does man even glimpse the other side. But it has happened. It happened once when skeptical, disillusioned men were there to record it. It happened, in a world-illuminating flash of history, in a room in a lime-whitened house in Jerusalem.

There, men saw what the limiting wall of their nature conceals from them. And time has not blotted out the sight.

THE WITNESSES were plain, practical men, sons of the soil and sea, shaped by hard, tangible experience. They had been drawn to a man like themselves, a woodworker, who added love and grace to man's drudging lot.

They had thought Him divinely endowed to reform the world, and had bound themselves to His service. But Jesus had been seized, condemned and hung as a criminal, leaving them the marked, terrified survivors of an outlawed course.

For them, the venture was over. The dream was done. Heartbroken, fear-ravaged, their last vestige of self respect and conviction gone, they huddled in the house of a friend who sheltered them even in their ignominy.

For the mistress of that house, the widow Mary of Cyprus, there was no flinching, no turning back. Indeed, the women followers of Jesus, in that black hour, still felt He lived on. The apostles did not.

They were dour, spiritless men, with stony faces and hard, desperate reckonings. They had given up, and their limbs were watery with apprehension and utter despondency. They trusted no encouragement. Some sat motionless, staring blankly. Others paced about, convulsed at intervals by shudders. When one sought to speak, he gave up in stammering.

THE DOOR TO THE ROOM was closed and bolted because of their fear and the furious mood of authorities, who, on learning of the empty tomb, had circulated an alarm about the disciples as grave robbers.

There was a close, oppressive quality about the room. It was dusky, hot, without windows. It was like a great damp oven, and sweat soaked their garments.

They could hear no sound of the city outside, and only faintly the movements of the women about the house. And then they gradually became aware that they did not even hear that. It was strange.

In the accumulating quiet, they themselves became quieter, and ceased their sighing and their pacing. It was, indeed, strange, that he had done nothing themselves to cause this attentive mood, yet they all sensed it.

Surely, in that enveloping silence, they had no reason to listen so closely, as if trying to catch the seemed to be because of a current of new air.

But from whence came that sweet air, that fresh and invigorating breath? No crannies opened to this cell. Yet it came now, mild, flowing, brushing their faces like the gentle Khamisim out of the south in springtime.

IT WAS AS IF some unseen door had opened, and an unknown, yet familiar and comforting presence had entered the locked room, where with none could say, and it was completely impossible, but lo! They gasped.

The Lord Jesus stood in their midst, and said, "Peace be unto you." His eyes shone on them like a caress. "As my Father hath sent me, even so send I you."

It was a staggering, indescribable moment. Again, that tide of airy rapture, and His strong, loving countenance smiled on them.

"All power is given unto Me in heaven and in earth. Go ye therefore, and teach all nations . . . He that believeth . . . shall be saved . . . And lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world."

That was the hiltop time. That was the dazzling hour, the lancing revelation, when the wall was broken, and man caught a glimpse of a further country, of a reality he could not calculate.

That was the fire rekindled in the apostles. It was as a man that Jesus had come to unveil that knowledge, to proclaim the magnitude of forgiving, steadfast love, and it was men

The Doctor Says

By HAROLD THOMAS HYMAN, M.D.

Best Surgery Available is Bargain

Half of all operations done in the United States are performed by practitioners untrained in the techniques of major surgery. So stated Prof. Owen Wangenstein of the University of Minnesota, as he assumed the presidency of the American College of Surgeons.

With few exceptions, each of us has to have an operation at some time in our lives. So you might consider the following suggestions until such time as licensing boards act to protect the public interest by establishing the "better controls" sought by Prof. Wangenstein.

GIVE FULLEST support to your local community hospital on which you will have to depend for emergency surgery. Only if it is staffed and equipped in accordance with the highest standards of surgical practice will you be given your best chance for recovery when the element of time takes precedence over all other considerations.

Do not object to an extra fee for the services of an expert anesthesiologist. Smooth anesthesia is indispensable to the conduct of expert surgery. Later, it serves to reduce postoperative discomforts and complications.

Do not begrudge the qualified surgeon his fee. Pay him in installments if you must . . . if it's necessary to economize, cut down on luxuries like cosmetics, alcoholic beverages, the new model TV set or pleasure car and some trips to beauty parlors.

IF YOU'VE A well-equipped and well-staffed community hospital and a qualified anesthesiologist and surgeon in residence, you may be able to save yourself and your family the greater inconvenience and expense of having to leave town for a nonemergency operation.

Whether it's to be a procedure of election, like removal of uninfected gallbladder or children's tonsils, or a procedure of necessity for removal of cancerous breast or prostate, the home town surgeon on whom you depend for consideration.

If you're doubtful of his qualifications, you have every right to ask him what his personal experiences have been with the contemplated procedure.

How many similar operations has he done? What per cent of patients failed to survive operation? What per cent had important complications? How many made successful recoveries? And finally, whether he thinks your chances might be improved if you went to one of the great medical centers or to a famous surgical clinic.

ALTHOUGH THE MORE skeptical among you may have misgivings over your local surgeon's reaction to this sort of questioning, it's been my experience that few physicians worthy of their calling object to straightforward interrogation.

Indeed, like the thoroughly trained technician in any field of human endeavor, the competent surgeon rarely cares to place his services at the disposal of those who are beset with fears and insecurities.

Finally, if you or your surgeon decide it's best for you to go elsewhere for referral, then, should you need later observation or care, you can rely on the continued good will of your physician-neighbor.

Boy's Plea for Drums Produces Booming Results

DETROIT (AP) — What hath 11-year-old Carl Holloway's letter to a newspaper wrought?

Carl, an aspiring drummer, used to spend his time beating out the rhythm on an old box with a chunk of inner tube stretched across it. His drumsticks were two chair rungs.

But Carl decided this wasn't good enough for an ardent admirer of Gene Krupa, the great jazz drummer. He wrote a Detroit newspaper (The Free Press) that he was in the market for a set of real drums—provided they were fairly cheap. The newspaper printed a story about Carl and his desire.

Carl found out quickly that he didn't need money to get drums. Seems like dozens of persons around Detroit were more than anxious to shower drums on the boy—free.

The first set of drums showed up at Carl's home Thursday morning and were waiting for him when he returned home from school for lunch. Carl didn't eat. He spent his lunch hour beating on the drums and was persuaded with difficulty by his mother to return to school for the afternoon session.

While Carl was at school there were offers of more drums, several dozen offers. And a number of drummers offered to teach Carl how to beat the skins.

His mother turned down the offers gracefully but one offer she didn't reject came from Chico Hamilton, noted jazz drummer currently playing in a Detroit night spot.

When Carl came home from school he found Hamilton waiting for him. He also learned that Hamilton had arranged with a New York drum company to send Carl a new set of drums for free.

Hamilton took his own set of drums to the Holloway home and he spent a good bit of time showing Carl how to hold the sticks, how to count the beat and how to make music instead of noise.

After Hamilton left, Carl continued pounding his many drums. He wasn't very good but he was very happy.

And This Is Only Mid-April

The National League baseball season opened Tuesday on schedule and the boys are playing for keeps. Everything up to now has been for fun.

If the old pros with high lifetime batting averages couldn't hit their weight, it didn't matter; spring training wasn't the real thing.

If the adroit glove men looked like arthritic kangaroos in the field, all that mattered was what they could do when the season began, not what they did while the season was still safely in the future.

If the veterans acted like rookies and some of the rookies acted as if they owned the training camp, that was all right, too. Everybody knew the rookies were doing their best to make an impression and the veterans no longer felt they had to prove their right to be in uniform.

THIS SORT of thing comes to mind when dopesters in national politics, needing something to justify their existence, suck their thumbs and come up with critiques of rookies and the veterans.

If the dopesters were to be taken at their word, the veterans would be on the bench when the time came to play for keeps and the rookies would have taken all their places. It rarely works that way. Once in a lifetime a Wendell Willkie swoops from nowhere and creates a sensation. But mostly patient preparation and the old pro touch pay off in politics.

Of all the pity being wasted their year on objects that do not need pity, the worst waste is the pity bestowed on Vice President Nixon, who has had no chance to show what he can do in the primaries; Adlai Stevenson, who has been playing "winter ball" in South America, and Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, who has been so busy taking care of congressional business he has no time to impress the tourists, amateur photographers and training camp buffs.

All the action has centered on two senators, Kennedy of Massachusetts and Humphrey of Minnesota, with a little spillover on Symington of Missouri. The comparison has made the old pros look drab and dull. But the fact it's still only mid-April. The campaign hasn't begun yet.

NOT ALL the mighty swingers and Fancy Dans who gobble up every ball hit close to them will be around when the season opens. Fewer still will be around when the season closes.

It's a dismal thought—a grim thought. But it's as true in politics as it is in baseball, which each spring is going to be turned upside down by the rookies and each mid-summer is leaning on the rookies that survived long enough to become veterans.

out for a sacroiliac spraining in the warm sunshine. This festival occurs on a weekend in May and is followed on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday by a cataclysmic decline in efficiency.

The beginning of picnic season is another high point, something like the upstream migration of the smelt along the Atlantic seaboard. The golf season lately seems never to stop, short of 10 inches of snow, but it, too, rises to festival proportions when the dandelions bloom.

The spring housecleaning festival still has its adherents, though it no longer is celebrated with carpet beaters as it used to be. And roller skating, marble playing, hopscotching, hand-in-hand strolling and front porch sitting—these are all the subject matter of folk festivals. No one makes a dime out of them and there's nothing for sale. But everybody helps to celebrate — and if that isn't a festival, what is?

times the ruts are at right angles. Both kinds can trap a full-sized car.

Then there are spots where the surface of the pavement has crumbled into nothing. Hitting one of these is like being snubbed short by a giant rubber band. The wheels sink. The car swerves.

There also are seas of mud, puddles that form in places where the drainage is inadequate and other assorted conditions that give motorists fits. Every time this happens — and it happens every spring — motorists run out of patience and blame road and street repair crews for not being on the job. This year will be no exception.

But before the first blast is fired, we thought it would be a switch to voice sympathy for all road and street repair crews and all taxpayers who put up the money for their efforts.

What happened to streets and highways with less than permanent surfaces last winter is fearful to behold, now that frost has left the ground. Obviously, the damage can't all be repaired at once. Most of it can't be repaired at all, until dry weather comes. Tempers will be frayed in the meantime. Scarcely anyone will blame J. Frost, because it will be more fun to jump on something closer at hand.

What little we can muster after dodging chukholes, ruts, sinking places and misplaced ponds belongs to those who now must undo J. Frost's damage.

The G.O.P. Gap

Wisconsin's Tawdry Carnival

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Whatever Providence guards us against our follies may be thanked for the tawdry carnival in Wisconsin is finished and that we shall have a few days or weeks to think.

Almost every conclusion we shall reach must lead to the profoundly depressing wonder whether the free political institutions we outwardly revere have been worth all the blood and toil lavished on them by our illustrious ancestors.

No doubt, the fine, enlightened, highly educated people of Wisconsin share that wonder. As they are able once more to look over the beautiful surface of Lake Michigan or the incomparable inland lakes, as green is appearing on the rolling hills in the west, their wonder must be intensified by resentment at the affront that these candidates have given their intelligence.

"What kind of people did they think we are? Did we, who have done so much and spent so much to educate ourselves and to build better political institutions, deserve that kind of appeal?"

A FUNDAMENTAL principle in practical politics is that when there is no party or ideological choice to move people, they will turn to other loyalties and allegiances. I proved this by very considerable research and published articles in studying nonpartisan elections in Ohio 37 years ago.

In this campaign, Kennedy and Humphrey are ideological twins. The voting records of both in the ADA book are 13-0. Hence, thousands of people turned to their loyalty to their religion. This meant that there was a Catholic and a Protestant vote. When that happens, the most deplorable situation arises.

I once heard the notable Rabbi Stephen Wise tell his congregation, "When there is a pro-Jewish vote, you invite an anti-Jewish vote."

Another principle of politics is that the less there is to say about real issues, the more will be spent on frivolous and diversionary activities. Money flowed like water — and coffee.

In his last desperate stand Senator Humphrey blurted out to reporters that Kennedy spent more for his private plane than Humphrey had to spend his whole campaign. No one will ever know the amount of expenditures, since the legal requirements for official reports are wholly inadequate.

THE APPEALS were to every personal concern but the brain. There were the horribly corny songs, the huge coffee parties, the crass mobilization of union members, and the ocular display produced by the cafe society of Hollywood, Chicago, New York and Boston.

Another appeal was available, which was apparently not thought worthy — an appeal to the pride of the state, the high road of principle. This has been done successfully in Wisconsin in the past.

In 1932 Franklin D. Roosevelt was returning east after a long campaign trip to the Far West. On the morning before his arrival at Milwaukee, he was sitting in the lounge of his private car dictating a speech for Wisconsin.

The subjects elaborated as he rambled on were things that all sorts of special interests in the states had suggested — the dairy industry, cheese, inland waterways, conservation, the St. Lawrence development, and other mundane local matters.

Sitting with him were Mrs. Roosevelt, Senators Byrnes of South Carolina and Pittman of Nevada, Secretary Marvin McIntyre, and this writer. There was a silence while the copy was being typed. Then the candidate asked those present to offer their opinions. The verdict — "terrible."

PITTMAN SPOKE UP and said in effect, "Why not appeal to the state's pride rather than its wants; its great university, the influence of which has touched everyone in the state; the fine traditions of freedom, political advances, the state's contributions to free institutions in the nation?"

Roosevelt thought it over a moment and then, throwing his speech in the wastebasket, said, "Go ahead and write that kind of speech." We did. It was delivered. The vote five weeks later was 707,000 to 347,000 in his favor.

The farmers and workers were in vastly poorer shape than now. They had, and have now, pluck, idealism, and pride. But these candidates of 1960 failed to realize it.

The Big Questions

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Public Needs More Information on Candidates

What sort of "image" of a man's fitness for the presidency are the American people getting as they witness the battle among the various candidates for the Democratic nomination?

Can they get their "image" out of a reading of speculative analyses of the statistics of a primary election in either Wisconsin or West Virginia? Certainly the speeches as reported in the press are of a diffuse nature and rather fragmentary.

Maybe the television appearance help prospective voters somewhat to form certain impressions. But it would seem that the public hasn't yet crystallized its thinking about any of the candidates.

Some of the best politicians in the country, with years of contact with the voters, are in the U.S. Senate. What they say in public is the tactful or the partisan observation expected from them. What they say in private has more meaning.

TALKING PRIVATELY with an important senator on the Democratic side who comes from a big Northern state but who isn't himself a candidate, this correspondent asked first for an appraisal of the religious issue. He said:

"It seems to date to have benefited Kennedy somewhat, but I frankly don't know what counter-effect it may have. If Republicans did cross over in Wisconsin to vote for Kennedy, then we may expect Protestant Democrats to begin crossing over to the Republican side in the election. I deplore the issue in politics and, interestingly enough, we have elected on the Democratic ticket many governors who are Catholics, and the issue hasn't cut too deeply into the campaigns."

The question was then asked as to what impression Sen. Kennedy has made thus far and what obstacles he faces. Here is the reply:

"I think that Kennedy's principal difficulty is that he is regarded as a boy. He is attractive in appearance. But what do the voters know of his experience? He has never been governor of a state, and he has had no experience in business. Has he executive ability? Is he subject to group pressures? Has he maturity of judgment? These are questions the voters are going to discuss among themselves, more than religion."

JUST NOW Sen. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Sen. Humphrey of Minnesota are in the limelight. It would be interesting if the results of some scientific poll were available to show how much the people really know about Messrs. Kennedy and Humphrey and their backgrounds in public life. In the Congressional Directory, which publishes brief biographies as supplied by each senator and representative, the following appears:

"Hubert L. Humphrey, Democratic - Farmer - Labor of Waverly, Minn.; born in Wallace, S.D., May 27, 1911; educated in South Dakota schools; graduated with degree from Dener College of Pharmacy; University of Minnesota with A.B. degree, University of Louisiana with M.A. degree.

"State director war production training 1942; assistant director War Manpower Commission, 1943; professor in political science, Macalester College, 1943 and 1944; married Muriel Buck; four children.

"Elected mayor of Minneapolis in 1945 and 1947; member of First Congregational Church of Minnesota, American Political Science Assn., American Public Administration Society, Phi Beta Kappa and Delta Sigma Rho; elected to the U.S. Senate on Nov. 2, 1948; re-elected to Senate Nov. 2, 1954; American delegate to United Nations 1956-57."

Led also for Sen. Humphrey are three honorary degrees from colleges and universities.

SEN. KENNEDY'S biography gives a list of 16 honorary degrees he has received, half of them from Catholic and half of them from non-Catholic colleges. On other data, the Kennedy sketch reads as follows:

"John Fitzgerald Kennedy, Democrat, of Boston, Mass.; born in Brookline, Mass., May 29, 1917; Harvard University, 1940, bachelor of science cum laude; London School of Economics; joined Navy in September 1941; served in PT boats in Pacific; retired in April 1945; newspaper correspondent; married Jacqueline Lee Bouvier Sept. 12, 1953.

"Author of 'Why England Slept' and 'Profiles in Courage'; Patriotism award, University of Notre Dame, 1957; winner of Pulitzer Prize and Christopher Book award for 1956; elected to Harvard board of overseers, 1957; elected to the 80th Congress on Nov. 5, 1946; re-elected to 81st and 82nd Congresses; elected to the U.S. Senate Nov. 4, 1952; re-elected Nov. 4, 1958."

Much more detail has been written, of course, about the lives of these two senators and published in the campaign material distributed by their supporters, but the truth is the public needs more information from disinterested sources.

What executive ability, for example, does each candidate possess? What is his faculty for dealing with specific problems of government? What is his basic character in making decisions? Does he "go with the tide," or does he resolve problems in a fair and equitable way irrespective of surface opinion? How would he stack up in international conferences "at the summit"? In fact, he really of presidential stature?

These are the questions to which the voters wish to know the answers.

It Doesn't Entertain

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Director Sidney Lumet believes there is one thing wrong with mass-produced entertainment — it doesn't entertain the masses.

"Entertainment in the future will have to do more than just divert a man from his worries," he said. "It will have to give him something."

"Man is getting a lot more curious. He wants something in his life that will make him feel differently, to see differently — a sense of discovery."

"He is not just looking for a sleeping pill."

At 35, Lumet, who began acting at the age of 5, has put his directorial stamp on several hundred television shows, two Broadway plays and four films.

The young director has an acid disdain for big-business influence in the creative fields.

"The greatest danger in the entertainment future is that, as the need for more entertainment grows and more money can be made, it will become more organized on an assembly-line basis," he said.

"But I don't believe mass-produced entertainment winds up as real entertainment. It winds up as time-filler — like so many drops of water on the head."

"And the pay-TV boys won't solve the problem. They'll only be making you pay for 'Queen for a Day' instead of letting you see it for nothing."

Watch Your Skid Marks

Skid marks are beginning to show on highways in the district, offering evidence of traffic accidents and near-collisions.

The pleasant spring weather not only has increased the number of automobiles on the roads, it has increased the speed of many of those cars. Drivers can't seem to resist the temptation to step a bit harder on the accelerator now that the ice and snow are gone.

Actually, the highways are hazardous in wintertime but in the spring and summer months it's the drivers who become a hazard. After a winter of restraint, they do rash and impulsive driving at times, forgetting that motoring is a responsibility as well as a privilege.

Don't let YOUR skid marks show on the highway. You might never live to see them.

Once Over

Moss Hart, who fought his way from slums and poverty to the top as a playwright, director and best seller author, is on Yale's 1960 list of inspirational speakers as a "Fellow in Arts and Sciences" and will lecture with some of the world's foremost intellectual leaders. In a sense Yale now combines the Whiffenpoof song with "You Gotta Have Hart."

It's a long hop from the East Side tenements and public schools to the rostrums of our great universities, but Moss Hart in his "Act One" has a single sentence that should be a great help to the baffled easily discouraged youths of today's campuses: "I grew up in an atmosphere of unrelieved poverty. The dark brown taste of being poor was forever in my mouth and the grim smell of actual want at the end of my nose. But I had a goal and a goal: the goal of poverty and the goal of a definite purpose."

Little did he dream in this tenement home, the rough road in $4 a week boyhood jobs, and the grind as Catskill camp director that there would some day be a sign "Next Week Moss Hart" over a big-three college.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My son is a high school senior and now is looking over various universities and colleges. He's a good student and probably could get into any school he selected.

The thing that bothers me is he judges schools by their athletic achievements. If a college doesn't have a red-hot football team he's not interested.

I've tried to explain this is a poor criterion but he says it's the best way to tell if an institution is "on the stick."

The sharp schools, according to him, pay a lot of attention to their athletic program and get a winning team at all costs. It's smart public relations, he says, which influences the entire program. What do you say about this? — KNOW NOTHING POP.

Dear Pop: Robert Hutchins said it better than anyone — and I quote: "Football has the same relation to education that bull fighting has to agriculture."

Back In Circulation

Dear Ann: I'm planning to break my engagement to a fellow who monopolized my life for five years. We started to go steady when I was 15 and became engaged three years later. I've never had a date with anyone else.

I won't go into detail but I'm sure he's a confirmed alcoholic and a pathological liar. I don't want to spend my life listening to lies and nursing hangovers.

Everyone thinks of me as Mickey's girl and I know it will take a long time before the word gets around that I'm available for dates. Could I hurry things along by placing a small ad in the newspaper? — NICK OF TIME.

Dear Nick: I dislike spoiling a sale for the classified ad department but I cannot, in good conscience, advise you to place an ad in the paper announcing a broken engagement.

I hate to resort to this very tired joke but if you want the word to get around fast — telephone, telegraph and telowoman.

Unrequited Love

Dear Ann: I'm a middle-aged businessman and a widower. In my younger days I worshiped a young girl from afar but was too shy to make my feelings known. She married and so did I.

Twelve years ago my wife died. I'm still in love with the idol of my dreams and always will be.

Three years ago her husband died. She travels, entertains and is invited everywhere. Her husband's picture is in every room. She refuses to give him up.

She's still beautiful and desirable and could give a man great happiness but she won't even accept a dinner date.

I know another widower who has tried to interest her but has failed, too. She loves to help others so if you could make her realize how much happiness she could bring to some lonely man if she married again I'm sure it would bring her happiness, too. — L. W.

Dear L. W.: Why don't you marry one of the thousands of eager widows who are searching frantically for a man and bring some happiness into her life? I'm sure the idea doesn't appeal to you and I don't blame you.

Marriage should be mutually rewarding. You wouldn't want a woman to marry you as a favor — in much the way she might lend you her car, would you? Well, get off your knees and find a woman who wants you at least as much as you want her.

Dear Ann Landers: Our 16-year-old son went into a near-convulsion because I picked up a phonograph record with my bare hands. He hysterically informed me you just don't touch records with your hands because the oil from human hands spoils the grooves or some such nonsense. You are supposed to use a flannel cloth. Fancy that! Furthermore, I have been informed that an ordinary, everyday apphire needle ruins good records and now we have to buy a diamond stylus. Have the kids of today gone nuts or am I a crazy old coot of 44? Thank you for an answer. — OUT-OF-IT DAD.

Dear Dad: Ain't it the truth. When I was a girl (back in the Stone Age) we had a phonograph with a two-bit needle and thought it was great. Today if you don't have stereo or at least hi-fi you're underprivileged.

It's true, however, that kids today have a much healthier respect for records than we did — and this is good. It encourages them to respect good music. So live with it, Dad, they could be out shooting pool.

Memory Lingers On

Dear Ann: I've been going with this fellow five years. We were engaged six months ago and planned a June wedding. Last week he taunted me once too often about an old girl friend so I told him to take her out and get it over with.

Well, he took her out not once but three times, then suggested we should postpone the wedding until he is "sure." I told him if he wanted to postpone the wedding he could have his ring back. He said, "Thank you, I'll take it."

He calls me every night and tells me he loves me best but I know he's been seeing her. Was I a fool to encourage him to take her out? My mother says I was a ninny.

I love him very much and now I'm afraid I've lost him for good. Please help me through this rough time. — TELLY.

Dear Telly: You did the right thing when you gave back the ring and postponed the wedding. The girl who marries a man who has doubts plus an eye for an old flame makes a big mistake. He's bound to slip his collar sooner or later.

It took courage to do what you did and it may have saved you from a lifetime of marital woe or a heartbreaking divorce. If he comes back (and he may) you'll know he wants you more than anyone else — and he'll know it, too.

Fools Rush In

Dear Ann: My husband is one of those good-natured "schlimmels" who wants to give everybody a hand. I've told him a hundred times to mind his own business but he won't listen.

Last night we were waiting for another couple to join us in front of the movie. My husband noticed a big burly guy pushing a young woman around. Their conversation got louder and then he slapped her face. My husband rushed over, grabbed the man by the arm and before he knew what hit him the big guy planted one right on his jaw.

Then the woman started to beat on my husband with her fists and said, "Leave him alone. He's my friend and he can slap me if he wants to." It was apparent then that they both were drunk.

My husband admitted maybe he was a bit hasty to get involved in this one but he insists that it pays to "help people." What do you say? —WIFE OF A BOY SCOUT.

Dear Wife: I agree it pays to help people but butting into a fight between a couple of stewed characters is not "helping people." Besides, it's dangerous.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Swarming Termites If you see "flying ants" near your home, these may be swarming termites... a definite warning of a nearby termite infestation.

Termite Tubes Termites sometimes build thin mud-like tubes on foundation walls or pillars. These tubes are a sure sign of serious termite attack.

Rotted Wood Termite damage resembles rot. If you find honeycombed and ridged wood around your house, then you know termites are at work.

Officiating clergyman was the Rev. Harold A. Zehr of Roanoke, Ill. Baskets of white Easter lilies and snapdragons decorated the sanctuary. Nuptial music was provided by a male quartet composed of Robert Otto, A. J. Klassen, Marion Bontrager and Evan Kreider. Louis Lehman, vocalist, was accompanied by the quartet when he sang two solos.

Mrs. Leonard Gross of Goshen was matron of honor, Miss Rachel Leman of Roanoke, Ill., bridesmaid; and John Ingold of Goshen was best man, Allen Brooks, brother of the bride, was groomsmen, while Emmerson Blosser, a cousin of the bridegroom, and Ronald Brooks another brother of the bride, ushered.

A color scheme of rose and white with white wedding bells, pink azaleas, a pink parasol and a pink clothes basket formed the setting for the presentation of miscellaneous gifts from the honoree's friends and neighbors. A bride and bridegroom and attend in bridesmaids in miniature made an attractive setting for the coffee table.

An out of town guest was the bridegroom's mother. Prizes in the games were shared by Miss Carol Lodge, Miss June Gibbons, Mrs. Winifred Trewitz and Mrs. E. H. Kuhns. A special prize was awarded to the bride-to-be.

New Policewoman

Mrs. Thomas Ferris

Mrs. Thomas Ferris of 1241 E. State St. is the new police department "meter maid" named recently by Mayor Dean Cranmer to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Gordon Edwards.

Mrs. Ferris, who was the highest of three applicants in a civil service exam, has joined the other "meter maid," Mrs. William Ritchie, in checking downtown parking meters and issuing parking tickets.

Rocky

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), concentrating on what may be a crucial test for him in the May 10 West Virginia primary against Kennedy, has shifted about half of his Washington headquarters staff to that state.

That gave rise to some talk that he is short of campaign money and might be prevented from carrying out his West Virginia campaign as planned. An aide scotched the report, said Humphrey will continue with his plans in West Virginia and elsewhere. He added that Humphrey has made no secret of his financial problems but the campaign is solvent.

In Sacramento, Calif., Gov. Edmund G. Brown said it was "absolutely not true" that he has decided to support Kennedy. "I have not committed myself to Sen. Kennedy in any way whatsoever, or to anyone else," he added, denying a published report. Brown will lead the California Democratic delegation to the convention as a favorite son candidate.

In New York, a newly formed Stevenson for president committee said it will seek a million or more signatures there urging that Adlai Stevenson, two-time party candidate, be nominated again.

Ministers

rejected the Western proposals before.

Stand By German Goal

On Germany, the ministers stood by their long term goal of a reunified, democratic Germany, including German-wide elections.

They agreed again that the issue of Communist-surrounded Berlin should be solved by the reunification of Germany, although if this is impossible, they may seek some kind of interim accord under which Allied rights to the city would remain unimpaired.

On disarmament, the foreign ministers renewed their support of the Western proposals set forth last month at the now deadlocked Geneva disarmament parley.

They decided to reoffer at the summit some specific parts of their plan on which speedy agreement might be possible without requiring strong policing that the Soviets object to.

8 Drivers Pay Fines On Speeding Charges

Eight drivers paid fines in Mayor Dean Cranmer's traffic court on for speeding.

Fined were John G. Roberts, 23, of RD, Salem, $10; Raymond Latessa, 34, of Canfield, $10; Ned Dowd, 55, Lisbon, $10; Elizabeth L. Jones, 49, Salem, $10; Lawrence Hippley, 36, Lisbon, $15; William Hunter, 62, RD 1, Hanoverton, $10; Raymond Fettes, 51, RD 2, Beloit, $10; and Alvin J. Magalnick, 22, Beachwood, $15.

Milton Goddard, 40, of Price, Utah, was fined $150 by Mayor Cranmer for driving while intoxicated.

Also fined Thursday was Clifford Fishel, 20, of Canfield, $15, for reckless operation.

Firemen Respond to Four Alarms Thursday

Three grass fires and a false alarm kept Salem firemen on the move Thursday.

Two of the calls were to Painter Rd. in Perry Township, one at 3:24 p.m. to a vacant lot near Russell Gibbs' apple orchard and the other at 9:18 p.m. to a field behind the Brunner Farm.

At 4:24 p.m., firemen were summoned to 716 S. Lincoln Ave. where leaves were burning.

A call to Jennings Ave. at 8th St. last night at 10:40 was a false alarm.

Principle, Discipline Signposts Of Prosperity, Anderson Says

NEW YORK (P)—The road of real prosperity is open but marked by two signposts—principle and discipline. That is the warning of Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson.

In the world of finance, concentration often seems more on principle from which springs interest payments and other forms of income than on principle that stresses discipline by individuals or their government.

But today—Good Friday—there should be a few moments to give to principle, leaving the care and feeding of principal till next week.

The dictionary defines principal as "a sum of money drawing interest" and principle as "a truth which is general and plain and upon which others are founded; reason, uprightness."

The secretary discussed American principles and the special need just now for discipline in a plea to several hundred hard-headed businessmen for greater sales of U. S. Savings Bonds.

Their comparative investment value is also a point on which the Treasury and many in the financial world—doubtless including many in his audience—differ.

But the secretary defended his recently sweetened bonds as paying a fair return and then launched into principles involved: "Individual purchases of savings bonds not only represent an act of good citizenship and serve as an important support to sound debt management; they also represent the more general subject of a safe and profitable investment for the American saver."

On the more general subject of what's ahead for Americans, Anderson says: "Prospects are better today for a long period of healthy, rewarding, and noninflationary growth than they have been at any time in the past two decades."

He quickly stresses that this prospect depends on "the determination of the American people to make the right choice, both in their private affairs and through their elected representatives in government."

The secretary says that in every period of "our history we have had to work hard to protect the freedom we enjoy. To avoid knuckling under to our present enemies we must be willing to accept without compulsion the disciplines which are the price of order amid change."

These disciplines include going without some present desires if gratifying them would cost so much as to threaten the integrity of our money.

"Certain things, such as our military security and essential civilian services, we can agree on as indispensable," Anderson said.

"But after that we must exercise the discipline to determine how many of the desirable things we can afford to do at one time without courting disastrous inflation."

This is a discipline which many persons seem loathe to embrace. The needs seem too pressing, the borrowing of money to satisfy them too easy.

And many quite sincerely hold that more government spending would increase the general economic health and promote the growth needed to care for an increasing population.

But the amounts being spent continue to rise. Taxes and other revenues received by federal, state and local governments now equal almost one-third of the entire national income, compared with one-eighth in 1929.

The debate is how much higher can this go without being disastrous. And it's in that respect that the call is sounded for adhering to principles even at the cost of self discipline.

Motorist Is Cited After Depot Rd. Crash

Harold D. Koons, 22, of RD 3, Depot Rd., was cited by the State Patrol for unsafe operation following a two-car accident at 4:45 p.m. Thursday a half-mile south of Salem on the Depot Road.

Koons collided with a car operated by George H. Fogle, 38, of Louisville. The Patrol said Koons attempted to pass Fogle just as the latter started to make a left turn.

Neither driver was injured. Both cars received minor damage.

Lisbon Firemen Answer Two Calls

LISBON — Village firemen were called Thursday at 3:40 p.m. to the Robert Simon residence on the Lisbon-Millport Rd., southwest of Lisbon, when an unused chickenhouse caught fire and burned to the ground.

At 10:15 a.m. today, firemen were called to Midway Lake on Rt. 172, northeast of Lisbon, where grass and brush was on fire.

YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP)—The flaming human torch body of a man believed to be a gas station attendant was found late Thursday night by three customers at a service station along the Willow Run Expressway.

State police detectives tentatively identified the victim as Carl Perry Nickell, 42, of nearby Willis, the night attendant at the H. Cornick Oil Co.

Detectives Gerald Corey and Roy Tanner said the victim's body was burned beyond recognition. State police said it could not be determined definitely if the man was slain in a murder - robbery, but they said they were working on that theory.

The man's body was found burning alongside a flaming automobile parked in the service station about three miles east of Willow Run Airport.

State police said the body was discovered by Dale Dunson, 32, of Belleville, Mich., his father, Joseph, of Canton, Ohio, and Richard Gano, 30, of Belleville. The Dunsons and Gano had pulled into the station at about 11:45 p.m. in separate cars and found no one to wait on them.

They started to leave when Joseph Dunson spotted the flaming auto, police said. Troopers were called, extinguished the fire and found the body.

Police said Nickell had been the victim of at least four holdups in the year and a half he had worked at the station.

Air Force Fails To Launch Bomarc

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Air Force today failed again to launch a Bomarc-B interceptor missile over a full-range course. It was the eighth unsuccessful Bomarc-B flight in as many tries from this missile test center.

An announcement half an hour after launch gave no indication what went wrong.

The 47-foot, swept-wing missile was programmed for a more than 400-mile flight.

On Wednesday, the controversial anti-aircraft weapon registered its first successful flight at Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., traveling a limited range 170-mile course.

Last month the Air Force ordered the Bomarc program slashed 370 million dollars from the 420 million asked for the missile in fiscal 1961.

80 Miles Down, 2,952 To Go for Dr. Moore

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—It was 80 miles down, 2,952 to go for hardy Dr. Barbara Moore, 56, as she heads today for California's capital.

The British vegetarian spent the night at Dixon, 21 miles to the west and 80 miles from San Francisco, where she started her transcontinental hike Wednesday.

She covered 40 miles on each of the first two days.

But she was still confident she would overtake two British servicemen who started a day earlier and are 68 miles ahead of her.

The servicemen, Flight Sgt. Patrick Moloney of the Royal Air Force and S. Sgt. Mervyn Evans of the British army, rested at Colfax in the Sierra foothills Thursday night.

Dr. Moore expects to cross the country—3,032 miles—in 45 days. The Sergeants have allotted 70 days. The record is 79 days, 10 hours, 10 minutes.

DOUGLASSVILLE, Ga. (AP)—Col. William Bower of Ravenna, Ohio, ordered 10 men to jump from a disabled C47 transport plane Thursday, then remained aboard himself while the pilot and copilot maneuvered it to a safe landing at Fulton County Airport.

Bower is commanding officer at Dobbins Air Force Base at Marietta, Ga., from where the C47 took off en route to barksdale AFB in Louisiana.

Soon after takeoff, the two-engine plane developed a runaway propeller and the plane was in danger of being shaken apart by the racing engine.

The 10 military personnel that bailed out all landed safely in a field.

Dog's Life Includes Wine, Wardrobe

TORONTO (AP)—Two Toronto Humane Society inspectors have discovered that a dog's life can include a champagne diet and a $400 wardrobe. They don't approve.

Acting on a complaint that Felsen Fest Pisces, a limpid-eyed, 13-month-old white poodle, was seen staggering during his daily walk, the investigators visited the home of his wealthy lady owner Thursday.

Pisces was clad in one of his 15 suits and a bow tie. He had just come out of his daily Turkish bath.

The society's general manager, George Hulme, said the owner, whom he declined to identify, is being informed that the society is displeased at the dog's liquid diet and daily heat bath.

"There's certainly no cruelty involved," he said. "We just think it's poor dog management."

The inspectors were somewhat envious of Pisces' wardrobe. Besides 15 suits it includes bow ties, 6 sets of pajamas, 4 sets of shoes, four to a set, a raincoat and a couple of tiara-like headpieces set with rhinestones.

As for being drunk, Pisces' maid, Marion Zahn, was adamant. "Pisces is never drunk," she said. "His shoes make him walk funny."

Quakers Score Lopsided 111-7 Victory Over Louisville

Take All Firsts In Track Meet

Salem Cindermen Face Girard Tuesday

By DICK BRAUTIGAM The Salem High track squad racked up its third straight lopsided victory of the season Thursday afternoon as it trampled invading Louisville by the amazing score of 111 to 7.

The best the outclassed Leopards could salvage in the meet was one second place and four thirds. This was the second time in three meets that the mighty Quakers captured first places in all 14 events. Dual meets are scored on a 5-3-1 basis except the relays where only the winner registers points.

Coach Karl Zellers' thinclads now own victories this season of 122 to 22 over United, 122 to 6 over Beaver Local, 86 to 32 over Youngstown Ursuline and 111 to 7 over Louisville. The victories over United and Beaver Local came in a triangular meet here last week.

CO - CAPTAIN TIM Burchfield was Salem's big winner yesterday. He captured both the 100 and 220-yard dashes and anchored the half mile relay team to its third straight win.

The Quakers also had six double winners. They were Ed Yates in the high and low hurdles, co-captain Jim Solmen in the mile and half mile, Ned Chappell in the shot put and discus, Dan Krichbaum in the 440 and mile relay, Rick Sulea in the broad jump and pole vault, and Jim Lehwald in the high jump and mile vault.

Lehwald tied for first in both of his specialties. Don Davidson tied him in the high jump, and Sulea battled him to a standoff in the pole vault.

Louisville's only points came on a second in the shot put by Isgro and thirds in the high hurdles, 440, 820 and discus.

Tri-County League Elects Loren Earley

Minerva Presented Trophy

Loren Earley, superintendent of Lisbon Schools, was elected president of the Tri-County Athletic League for 1960-61 at the league's annual spring meeting held Thursday at the Wick Hotel in Lisbon.

George Nace, principal of Lisbon High School, was appointed secretary - treasurer.

Retiring president Dr. W. W. Gephart of Leetonia presided over the meeting yesterday. There were 46 members present, representing the Tri-County League's eight schools. League members are Columbiana, East Palestine, Leetonia, Lisbon, Louisville, Minerva, Poland and Sebring.

PLANS WERE MADE to celebrate the 30th anniversary of the league in 1962. The celebration will be at the April meeting in Louisville with Louisville and Sebring acting as hosts.

The league voted to drop the basketball preview next season due to a lack of interest and the small amount of time between football and basketball seasons.

Dr. Gephart presented a championship trophy to Coach Don Lawther of the Minerva Lions who won the basketball title for the 1959-60 season with an undefeated record of 14 wins.

This is the second straight year that Minerva has walked off with the Tri-County League basketball title. It was also the Lions fifth basketball championship in the league's 28-year history.

Wellsville Squad Ousts Herron's

Locals Handed 103-65 Drubbing

Herron Transfer of Salem was no match for Charlie Boykin and Wellsville Pete's Cafe as the local independent cage squad suffered a 103-65 drubbing Thursday in the Wellsville Invitational Basketball Tournament.

Booykin, a 6-10 rebounding and shooting sensation from Kent State University, racked up 35 points against the outclassed and outstretched Salem quintet. Joe Smith, a 6-8 cager from Akron University, assisted Boykin in dominating the boards and added 20 points to the Wellsville cause.

Salem High's All-Ohio guard of this season, Dave Hunter, was Herron's leading scorer with 19 points. His brother, Rich Hunter, was close behind with 18 markers.

Woody Deitch, another All-Ohio selection from Salem High two years ago, chipped in with 14 points for Herron's, and Lisbon's Dean Nicholson added 10.

Nicholson, who is 6-8, was given the assignment of stopping Boykin. The Herron center fouled out in the vain attempt. Boykin registered his 35 points despite the fact that he, too, sat out a little over four minutes of the game.

Herron's put up a battle for one period. Wellsville held quarter leads of 18-17, 47-31 and 71-48. The teams played 10-minute quarters.

Herron's will meet Freed Service of East Liverpool Saturday night in the consolation game. Freed's boasts such cage standouts as Bevo Francis, Jim Smith and Jim Tucker, all of whom are 6-8 or better.

Dodgers Trip Cardinals 3-2; Cubs Hand Giants 6-5 Loss

Braves Blow Lead, Lose to Phillies

By The Associated Press So it's early yet and it may not mean a thing, but Duke Snider and Gil Hodges, too old to do it again, and Ed Roebuck, a forger of Dodgers in first place at the moment.

Snider belted a home run, his first hit of the season, and Hodges triggered a two-run ninth that gave Roebuck his first victory since 1957 in a 3-2 decision over winless St. Louis Thursday night.

That hoisted the world champs into a share of the National League lead with San Francisco and the Chicago Cubs, who handed the Giants their first loss, 6-5, with a walk and wind-blown double in the ninth.

The Milwaukee Braves blew a three-run lead and lost 5-4 in 10 innings to the Philadelphia Phillies, left without a manager when Eddie Sawyer called it quits earlier in the day. The Pittsburgh Pirates walloped Cincinnati 13-0 behind Vern Law's seven-hit pitching.

A bases-loaded wild pitch by losing reliever Bob (Och) Duhla won it for the Dodgers.

The Giants, who overcame Ernie Banks' third-inning grand slam homer with home runs by Willie Kirkland and Willie McCovey, were beaten when reliever Billy O'Dell walked Bob Will in the ninth and Thomas lofted a two-out fly ball. The ball dropped for a double behind short and Will was home. Don Elston, second of four Cub pitchers, won it in relief of starter Seth Morehead, who gave up a third Giant homer to Orlando Cepeda.

The Phillies, directed by coach Andy Cohen while awaiting the arrival of new manager Gene Mauch as his successor landed on the Philadelphia sports scene like a bombshell.

Gullett Paces Bears to Win

North Lima Victim On Leetonia Track

The Leetonia Bears captured their second straight home track victory of the season as they defeated North Lima Thursday, 60 1/2 to 49 1/2.

Bob Gullett once again sparked for Leetonia, winning both hurdles events. He clipped off the 120-yard highs in 19.0 and the 180-yard lows in 24.5.

Senior Terry Tilley of the Bears captured the 880-yard run with a clocking of 2:11. Jim Stelts heaved the shot 40-1 for another Leetonia first. Also coming through for the Bears was the mile relay team which turned the four laps in 4:00.

Although North Lima took eight first places compared to only six for Leetonia, the Bears piled up enough seconds and thirds to capture the meet. Leetonia took all but one second place.

Roger Cooley was North Lima's big gun, winning both the 100 and 220-yard dashes. He ran the 100 in 16.75 and the 220 in 25.0.

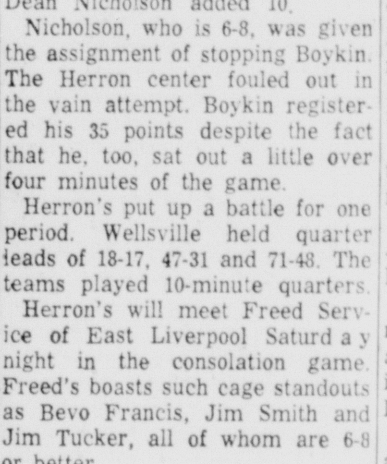

Other winners for North Lima were: mile run, Mellott, 5:30.9; 440-yard dash, Hill, 55.9; broad jump, Klein, 18-0 1/4; the 300-yard relay team, 1:40.15; and discus, Ackerman, 104-8.

Klein of North Lima and Burgess of Leetonia tied for first in the high jump at 5-4. There was no pole vault competition.

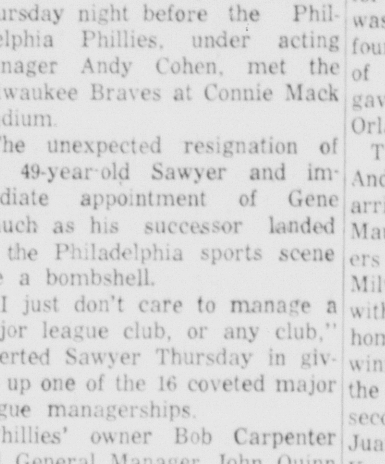

Leetonia's next meet will be at home next week against United.

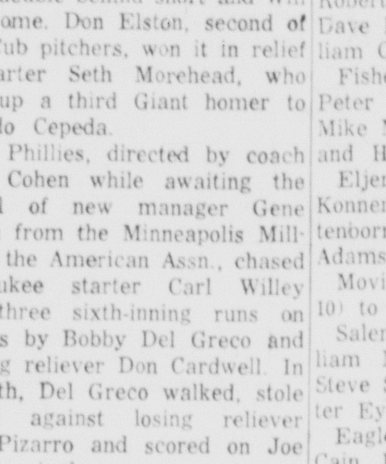

CAGE AWARD—Minerva High School Coach Don Lawther (r.) is shown accepting the Tri-County League basketball championship trophy for 1959-60 from Dr. W. W. Gephart of Leetonia, the league president. The presentation was made Thursday at the league's annual spring meeting held in Lisbon.

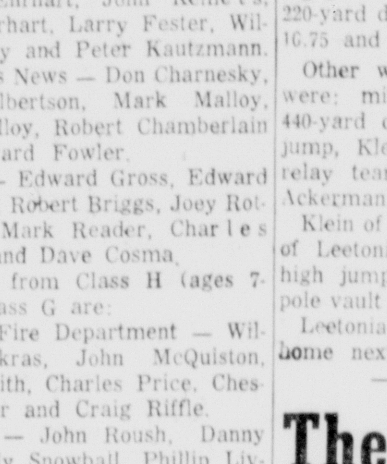

WELLSVILLE PETE'S—103-65. Boykin 14-7-35; Smith 9-2-20; McDevitt 1-0-2; Meikle 1-0-8; Bingham 2-2-3; Robinson 3-3-15; Pace 0-2-2.

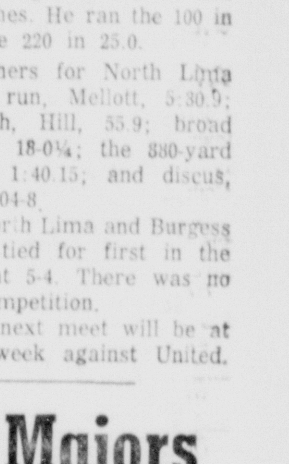

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Did Eddie Sawyer quit because he was tired of managing or because he read the handwriting on the wall? This was the question inquiring reporters tried to get answered Thursday night before the Philadelphia Phillies, under acting manager Andy Cohen, met the Milwaukee Braves at Connie Mack Stadium.

time a pitcher shuts out the Cincinnati Reds he's pitched himself a whale of a ball game."

So echoed Manager Danny Murphree for Greenford.

Sulea and Lehwald tied for first in the pole vault for the third consecutive time. This time, however, the duo cleared the 11-0 mark before bowing out. Both had been halted after 10-6 in the two previous meets.

Sulea, Lehwald and Charlie Horn all cleared 10-6 yesterday on their first tries. Sulea and Lehwald also made 11-0 on one try, but Horn missed out on three attempts. The two winners dropped out when the bar was raised to 11-6.

THE TALENTED SULEA also captured the broad jump with a leap of 18-10 1/4. Sulea, a junior, possesses the natural ability which could make him one of Salem's biggest winners.

Tribe Drops Two; Roster Down to 28

Daytona Each, Fla. (AP)

The Cleveland Indians are down to 28 men today—the roster limit for the first month of regular season ball.

The squad has 14 pitchers, two catchers, five outfielders and seven infielders.

Latest to be dropped were right-handed pitcher Bobby Locke, optioned to Indianapolis on a 24-hour Mike De La Hoz, sent to Toronto.

De La Hoz, originally with Mobile, said he was elated over the promotion to Toronto, where he probably will be the regular shortstop.

Manager Frank Lane said the 20-year-old Cuban would have remained with the Indians if the infield weren't set. "We'd rather have him playing every day with Toronto," said Lane, "than sitting on the bench with us."
